"Peck's Bad Girl" is the play destined to give Mabel Normand her greatest fame. A spirited comedy drama, it is a rare combination of the new and the erstwhile Mabel Normand. The brilliant artiste never lent more enthusiasm to a part than she does to this, her greatest triumph. Given free rein for her original style of comedy, Miss Normand will surprise the screen world by her performance in one situation after another. At the Globe Theater, tonight.

The St. Johnsbury Ladies' Quartette, of which Mrs. George Cary is a member, gave her a surprise party Thursday evening. Mrs. Cary goes away soon for the winter. Doyle, reader, and Mrs. Homer B. Carpenter, accompanist.

Enid Bennett, the Australian Actress, will be seen in a remarkable picture, "A Desert Wooing," at the Please-U tonight. Miss Bennett is seen as a jaded society girl, who, is placed in the matrimonial market by her "Social Climber" mother to be sold to the highest bidder. She weds a hazy western rancher, a primitive man, whose masterful ways win her love, and after proving equal to every test, she shows remarkable courage and finds happiness in the love of her primitive husband.

The War Activities committee of the St. Johnsbury Woman's Club held their third social meeting at the home of Mrs. Charles G. Flint Thursday afternoon.
